Foreword

Since this year is the tenth anniversary of Indian Call, it seems only natural to look upon the years of mental growth, physical growth, and cultural growth. The swift passing years have been full of progress and accomplishments. The staff of '56 wishes to review with you in this anniversary book these things that the Indian Call has seen.

This aerial shot, taken in 1946, shows the physical growth of Hays High.

General Electric put on two demonstrations in Hays this year. This movement by G.E. informs the public on recent scientific advancements and creates interest in things to come. The principles of photoelectricity, binocular sound, stroboscopic light and jets are shown here on exhibition.

The cameraman catches the psychology class as they board the bus for a trip to the Larned State Mental Hospital.

The noon bell rings. They're off!

Throughout the day, there is a constant stream of students in and out of the school building.

Both passing students and the office secretaries enjoyed rooting for their favorite team during the World Series, via the office radio console.

The 9000-volume library has many features to encourage further education, which include a number of sets of encyclopedias and the always popular reading nook.

Dedication

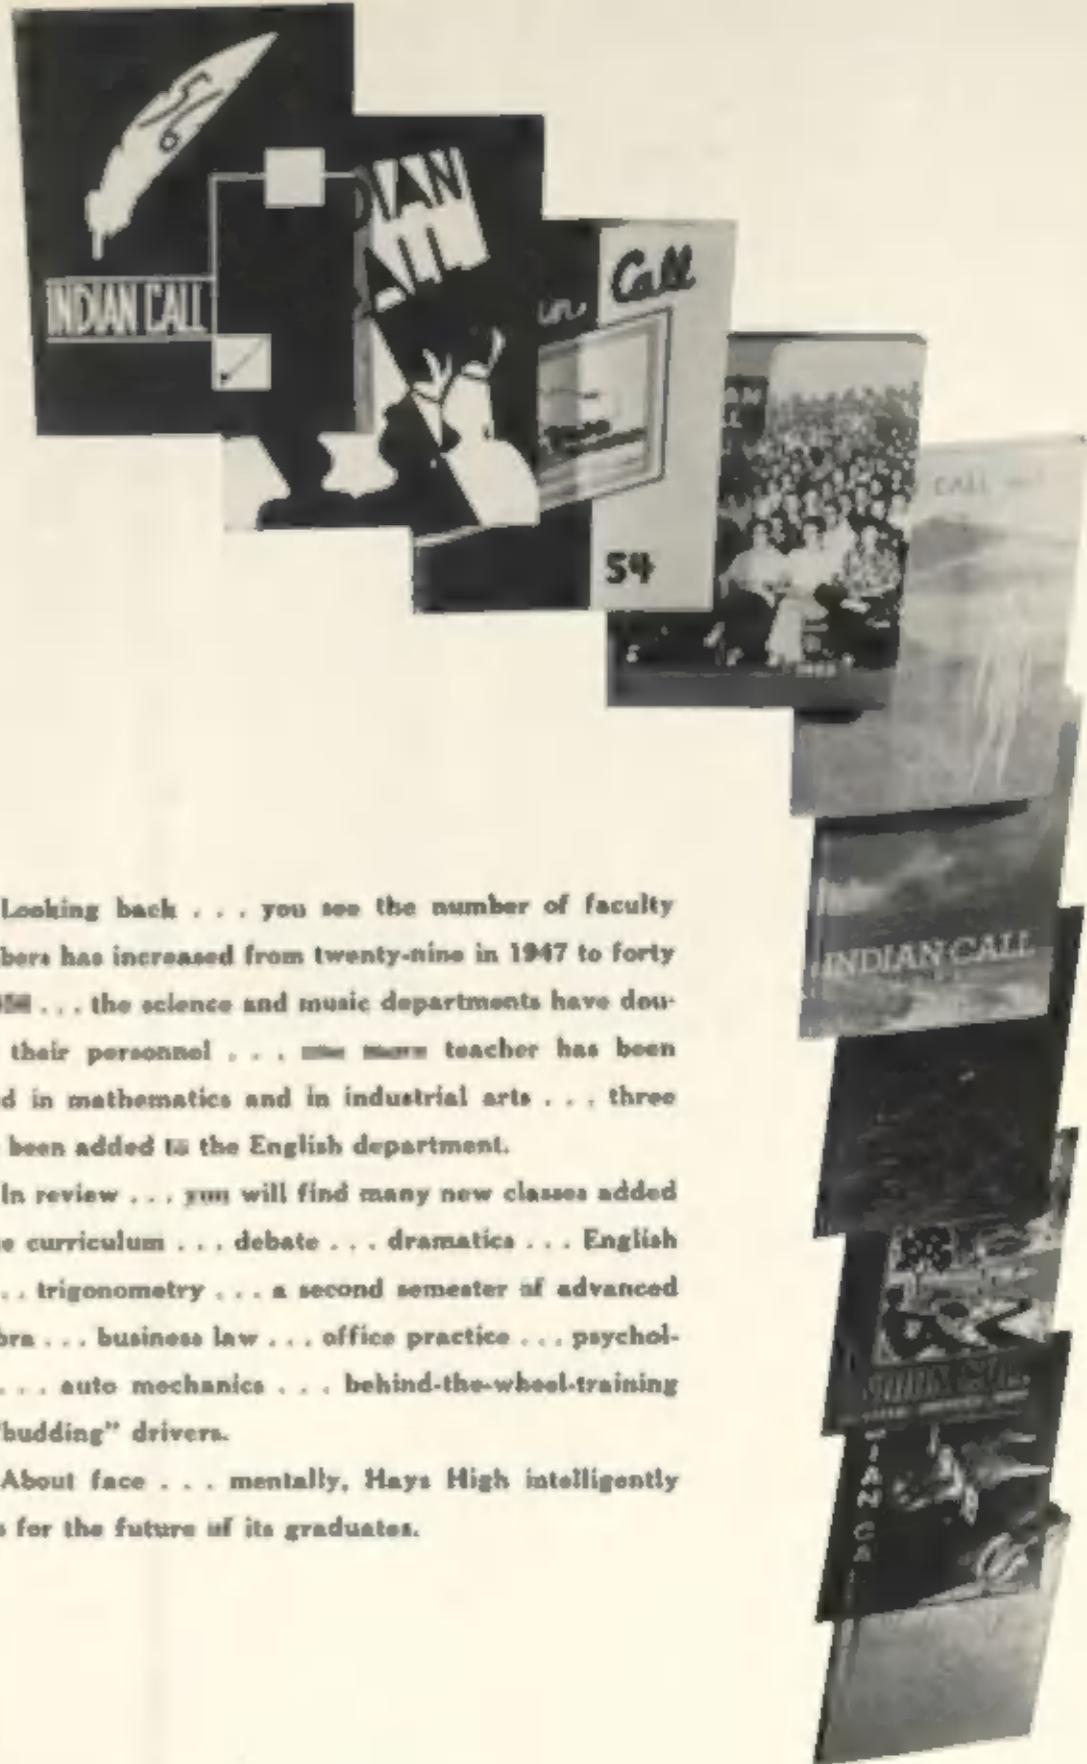

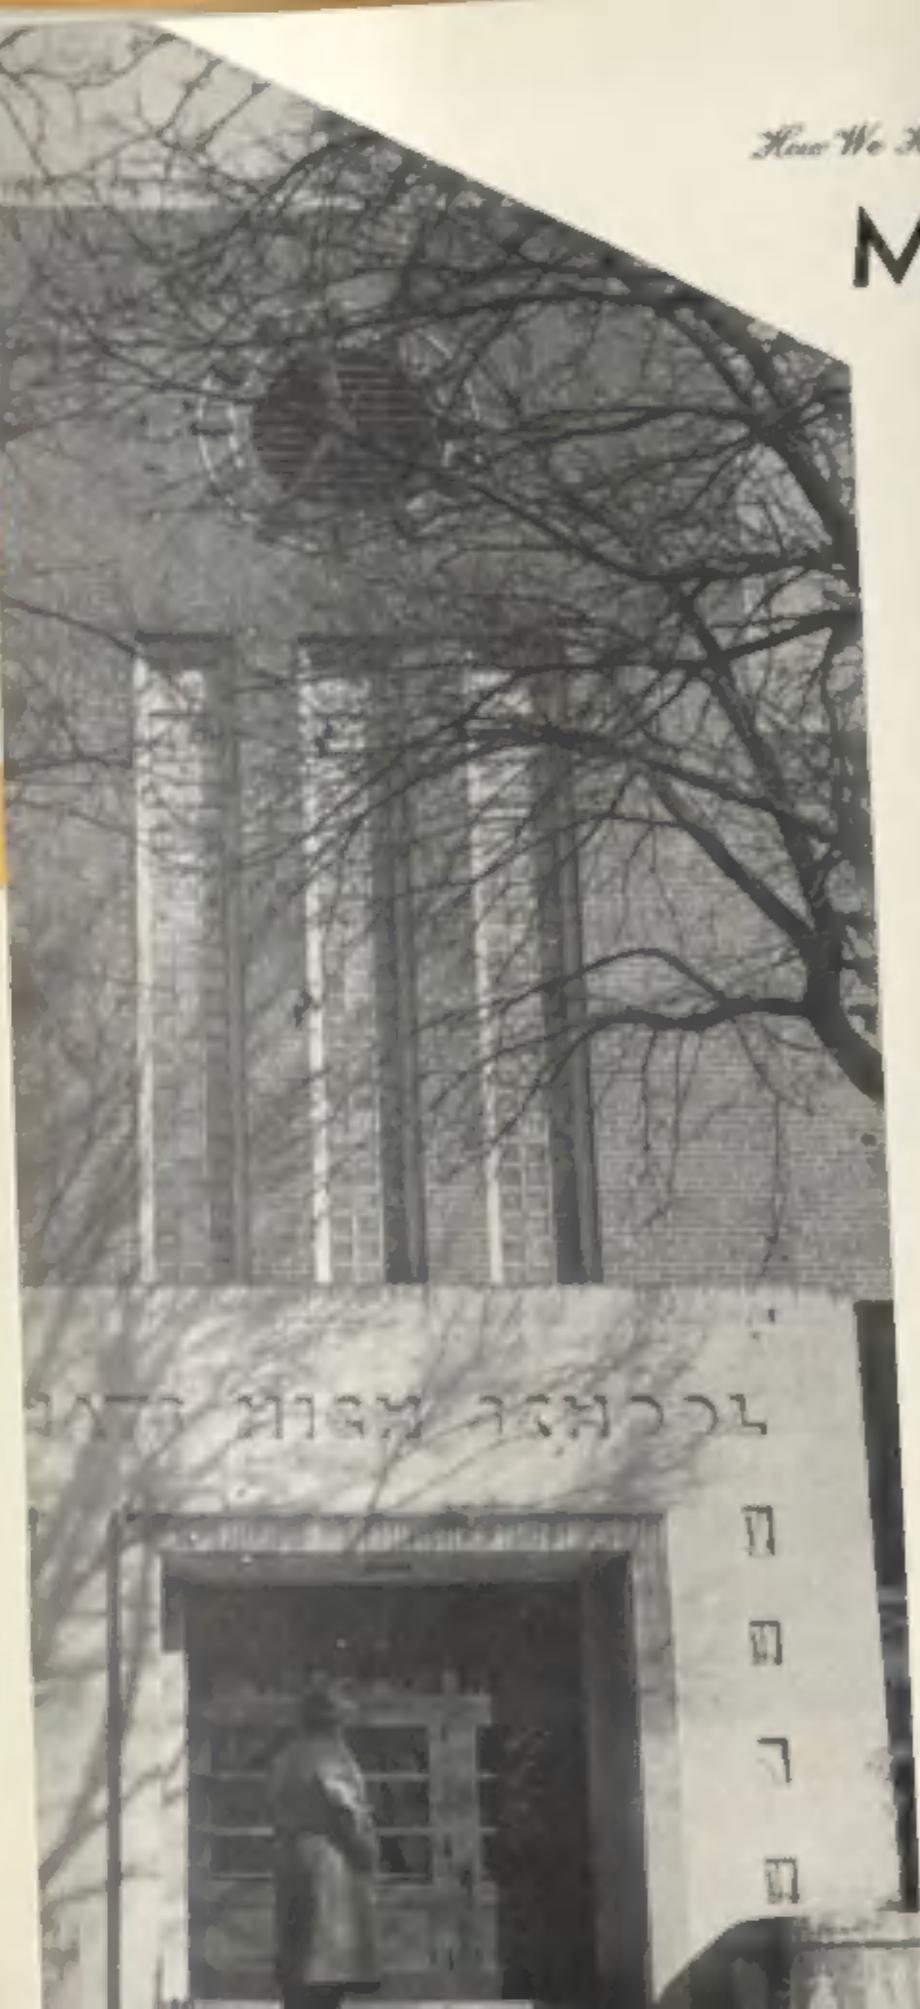

Because this is your tenth year of sponsoring the Indian Call, the staff thinks that you should join them in looking back over the ten years of growth in Hays High School. So to you, Miss Alta Behrens, the staff of '56 respectfully—and lovingly—dedicates this tenth anniversary edition.

Through your business education classes, you have helped many students to become a success in business. Klick Klub members have always benefited from your wide knowledge of photography. Sponsoring the Indian Call has often held for you, the knowledge of a job well done. For your guidance and your help, we dedicate this 1956 Indian Call to you.

How We Have Grown . . .

MENTALLY

Looking back . . . you see the number of faculty members has increased from twenty-nine in 1947 to forty in 1958 . . . the science and music departments have doubled their personnel . . . one more teacher has been added in mathematics and in industrial arts . . . three have been added to the English department.

In review . . . you will find many new classes added to the curriculum . . . debate . . . dramatics . . . English IV . . . trigonometry . . . a second semester of advanced algebra . . . business law . . . office practice . . . psychology . . . auto mechanics . . . behind-the-wheel-training for "budding" drivers.

About face . . . mentally, Hays High intelligently plans for the future of its graduates.

President C. L. Mann, and Vice President W. A. Toepfer consult the agenda of the forthcoming board meeting.

Citizens Serve Education

Behind the scenes of the Hays Public School system are six members of the board of education. Elected by the voters, these civic-minded citizens receive no pay but devote much time and effort to help make the public schools of Hays a better place in which to gain an education.

C. A. Harkness has served as treasurer of the board for twenty-nine years. Superintendent Clyde U. Phillips and Business Manager Valia Rockwell meet with the board the first Monday of each month. These meetings are open to the public. W. A. Toepfer serves as president and C. L. Mann, as vice-president.

Board meeting is now in full swing with members Jack Dress, Norman Jeter, C. U. Phillips, superintendent, J. P. Van Doren, Jr., E. J. Dreiling, C. L. Mann, and W. A. Toepfer around the table.

Down the hall come J. P. Van Doren, Jr., and Norman Jeter for another long session of school business.

Superintendent

Serves 25 Years

Keeping the administrative details going smoothly is Clyde U. Phillips who has been superintendent of the Hays Public School System for twenty-five years. As a leader in educational circles throughout the city, state, and nation, Mr. Phillips has played an important part in putting Kansas on the educational map. Both students and parents respect his advice that is given thoughtfully and sincerely. From kindergarten through college, Mr. Phillips is recognized as the man who knows all about the Hays schools.

Clyde U. Phillips, superintendent, discusses with Valia Rockwell, business manager, the details of the $500,000 school budget.

Key Men Manage School Affairs

Three key men guide Hays High students to their goals. Clyde W. Rothgeb, principal, and A. K. Massey, junior high principal, take care of the many daily problems that come up among students and faculty, plus numerous administrative details.

Valis Rockwell plays an important role as business manager of the Hays Public School System. In addition to being the senior class sponsor, he also keeps busy acting as school counselor and guidance director.

Essential Women Serve School

Behind every good executive is an efficient secretary. Principal Clyde Rothgeb depends on Alta Nulton to keep tab on activity money and keep his correspondence up to date. Mrs. Charlotte Seery takes care of Superintendent Phillip's correspondence. Jack-of-all-trades in the office is Mrs. Joanne Rymph, who works half days.

Mrs. Alice Wynne takes care of students' health and keeps communicable diseases at a minimum. Mrs. Ruth Less assists Mrs. Wynne in keeping the health records.

Foundations Laid For Homemakers

If at first you don't succeed, try, try again. This motto reminded the many girls who took home economics this year that things wouldn't always turn out as desired. Under the careful attention of Miss Kathryn Ratzloff, Mrs. Eva Faldon, and Mrs. Margaret McKittrick, home economics projects usually turned out better than expected. Mrs. McKittrick replaced Mrs. Faldon second semester in the cooking classes.

Miss Ratzloff advises the FFA and helps with the junior class.

Dallas Qualls discusses with Mrs. Eva Faldon traditions that both new homemakers have found in Hays High.

Naomi Berland, Joannine Brungardt, Veronica Degenhardt, and Janice Masters add the finishing touches to a lemon ice box pudding.

Social Science Develops Citizenship

The foundation of true Americanism is laid in social science classes. Two years of social science are required of high school graduates.

Andy Fitzgerald, junior high coach, helps lay the foundation for advanced work. Miss Leona Wasinger who replaced Mrs. Catherine Thorns the first of November, works with both junior high and senior high. Miss Wilda Smith, Kayette Club sponsor, finds American history intriguing, and Coach Richard Perry helps the seniors to be better citizens through classes in constitution.

Business Students Prepared For Jobs

The busy office practice classes under the direction of Miss Alpha Elting perform many clerical duties for the faculty. Miss Elting also helps with the ticket sales for athletic games.

When it comes to extra curricular activities, Miss Alta Behrens, another business teacher, supervises the Indian Call, Hays High Photographers, the Klick Klub, and Future Business Leaders of America.

Many of the students need jobs and the business department offers courses for secretaries, typists, office clerks, and bookkeepers.

Miss Elting's typing class finds plenty of work to keep them busy.

While studying prisms, the solid geometry class discusses with Miss Marie Brown, instructor, the proof of a theorem presented by Helen Schlegel while Jean Harris awaits her turn.

Atomic Age Demands Scientific Training

In this atomic age, the mathematics and science departments come in for much importance. Mrs. Ruth Harris lays the foundation in junior high math and, as agnate, keeps the eighth grade advised as to the traditions of Hays High.

Gerald Schmidt fills in the curriculum with biology and general math, and he advises the KAY Club.

Miss Marie Brown completes the advanced math studies and Harold Elder, the advanced science. Both Miss Brown and Mr. Elder aid the juniors with the prom.

Physical Health is Necessary

In becoming adults, physical growth is well as mental growth is necessary. To accomplish this, physical education is required in high school.

Mrs. Cathryn Hoover directs all girls' physical education classes. She also sponsors the girls' tennis team and the Girls' Athletic Association.

Grover Nutt, football coach, and Glynn Lowe, track coach, divide their time between boys' physical education and behind-the-wheel training classes. Nutt also sponsors the H-Club.

Industrial Arts Plays a Part in Education

Education is more than learning from books; it is learning through experience and vocational agriculture, for example, 200 auto mechanics are in courses in driving, repairing, and mechanics. Mackender, golf coach, teaches industrial arts. Major and Jack Roberts find industrial arts interesting. Roberts spends much time with father, an engineer. Edward Schukman takes an active part in teaching vocational ag., and he sponsors F. F. A.

Research Problems Baffle Most Juniors

Research themes present many problems to the junior. Miss Doris Starliper is always near and ready to lend a helping hand.

Mrs. Miriam Perry, ~~was~~ a junior English teacher, helps the students with their research problems as well as with their writing problems.

Junior high English teacher, Miss Mabelle Vandenter, keeps busy supervising the active program of the Junior Kayettes and helping out with the dance committee.

Mrs. Jessie Rupp, who is in charge of the kitchen, and Mrs. John J. Slab put the finishing touches on the dessert before the lunch hour descends upon them.

Student Jack Harrison, who checks lunch tickets, views the long descending lunch line in hopes that he will have time to eat before school resumes.

Students eat in informal groups in the school cafeteria at noon.

Mrs. Albert Hammermuth and Mrs. Gerhart Becker whip the gallons of jello that students consume for lunch.

Food and Building Prepared

Things don't take care of themselves. Back of an efficiently run high school are the men who keep the building ready and the women who prepare the food. Four cooks prepare the food for students who, for thirty cents a meal, eat lunch at the cafeteria.

Five janitors do the dirty work of the high school. These men are responsible for keeping the rooms, halls, and campus free of dirt, snow, and papers. The job of the janitors doesn't end in the spring when school does; as all through the summer they are busy getting the building ready for the fall term.

A. F. Debe sweeps the halls after the building is vacated.

Sight-keeper John Reitz cleans the office.

Don Miller empties the waste-paper baskets from the classrooms.

Clarence Miller behind the plow and Alois Miller pushing the shovel, clear the 4,000 feet of sidewalks that have to be shoveled every time it snows.

Mr. ~~White~~, supervisor of secondary education, sees that ~~each~~ student teacher gets books and equipment ~~for~~ their teaching block.

Student Teachers Learn

During a period of seven weeks students come from the college to practice and to prepare themselves for future teaching. This study is required of ~~most~~ by the college because "experience is the best teacher." The ~~student~~ teachers are under the direction of Dr. Kenneth White. ~~They~~ take part in many ~~activities~~ and always lend a helping hand to students. Teachers find them invaluable in the classroom.

Council Governs Student Body

Pat Ishell, president of the Junior High Executive Board, makes plans for future meetings with A. K. Massey, advisor.

Promoting school tradition, the student council served as the governing body of the school. Members were finance, representatives and presidents of the sophomore, junior, and senior classes.

The council enjoyed an informative trip to Lindbergh where they attended a student conference. It also selected the James Rotarians for the year.

Denny Lee, president, led the council with the aid of Terry Hopkins and Dean Green, first and second vice presidents and Clyde W. Robyeh, principal.

The Junior High Executive Board, run in much the same manner as the high organization. The members planned all dances and assemblies with the assistance of Pat Ishell, president, and A. K. Massey, advisor.

Student Council, under the leadership of Denny Lee, makes an important decision next month's rotation.

Chosen for dependability, leadership and promptness, Sue Suran was the November D. A. R. good citizen.

Seniors Honored

Named to receive the D. A. R. award, Sue Suran, represented the school in the good citizenship contest which was sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution. She was chosen by the faculty from nominees picked by the senior girls. Sue has participated in music, dramatics and is business manager of the yearbook.

Junior Rotarians were senior boys elected by the student council. There was a Junior Rotarian for each school month, the boys having luncheon on Mondays at Rotary.

Monroe Plannenstiel is a sports fan of April Rotarian.

Enthusiastic Dennis Linn Lee, president of the student body, was the September Rotarian.

Cheerful Terry Hopkins, senior class president, was the October Rotarian.

Active Dennis Green, H. Club president, was the December Rotarian.

Industrious Doug Petets, president of P. P. A., was the May Rotarian.

Ambitious Bill Ward, a good sports player, was the November Rotarian.

Energetic Mike Piatets, who was on the golf team, was the March Rotarian.

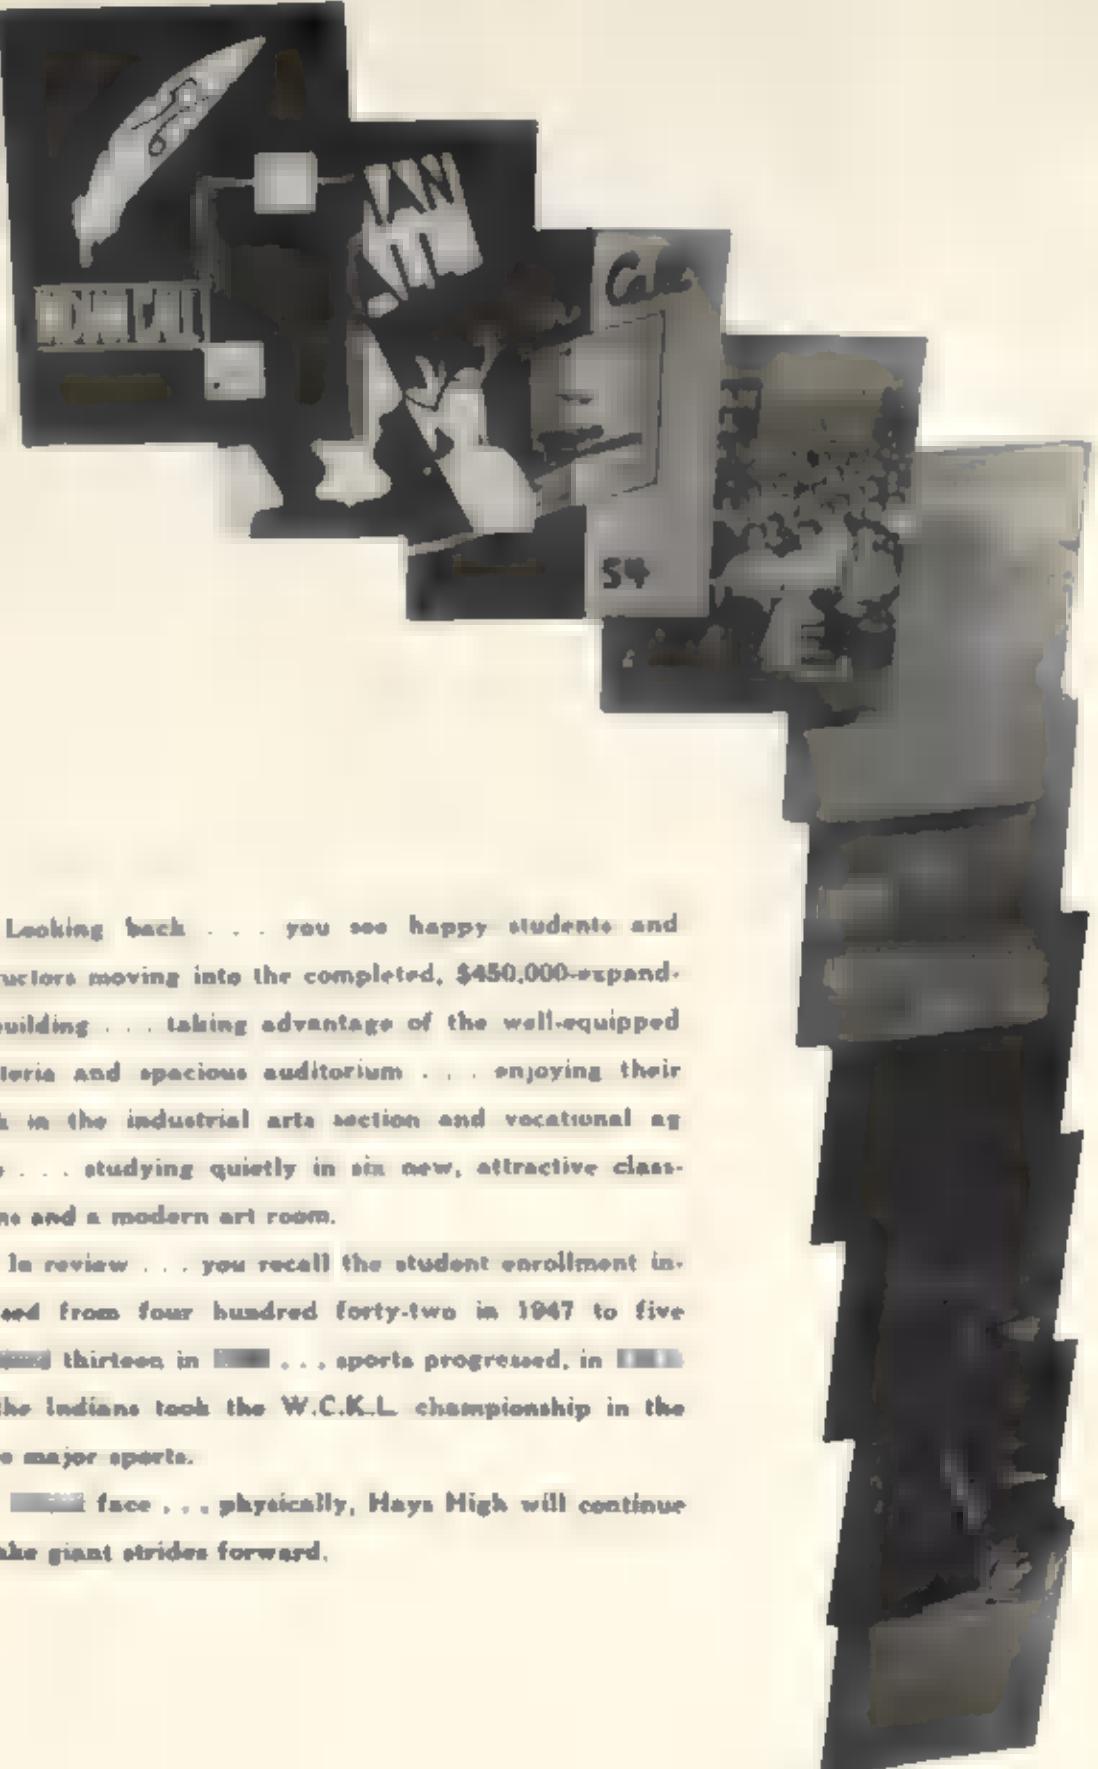

Cheerful Jack Harrison, editor of the Gullion, was the February Rotarian.

How We Have Grown

PHYSICALLY

Looking back . . . you see happy students and instructors moving into the completed, $450,000-expanded building . . . taking advantage of the well-equipped cafeteria and spacious auditorium . . . enjoying their work in the industrial arts section and vocational shop . . . studying quietly in six new, attractive classrooms and a modern art room.

In review . . . you recall the student enrollment increased from four hundred forty-two in 1947 to five hundred thirteen in 1956 . . . sports progressed, in 1955 the Indians took the W.C.K.L. championship in the three major sports.

■■■ face . . . physically, Hays High will continue to take giant strides forward.

seniors

During the six years that the class of '56 has looked forward to graduation, history has been made. Looking back now, you will see class rings set with red ruby... outstanding operatic productions of the Mikado and H. M. S. Pinafore... excellent dramatic performances of January 16th and Nothing But the Truth... attractive proms, scholarship recognized publicly... winning and losing athletic teams but never dampened school spirits.

The class of '56 turns to the future... each to make a place for himself in the world.

the Lead Pep

Dressed in maroon sweaters and crimson gold skirts, a quintet of Hay High pep girls cheered the school yell and chanted during the various athletic events. The five were selected by a student vote from grades 10-11-12. During the season, new cheerleaders were added to the old yell by the sophomore girls.

The Junior High cheerleaders were chosen from grades 7-9 in December and wore gold sweaters and maroon skirts.

Barbara Brooks, Pat Isoldt, Sharon Saaby, Gladys Lee, and Judy Mankin, junior high cheerleaders, lead cheering with pep and zeal.

The peppy cheerleaders jump high when two more points were added to the Hay High score.

G.A.A. Stimulates Girls' Athletics

Just about any noon during the year, G. A. A. members could be found in the little gym playing volleyball, basketball, or badminton.

The members worked to sharpen their skills and to possibly earn a letter from the National Girls' Athletic Association. The local chapter had presented a certificate to its outstanding members.

Regular basketball games were held, in which the members participated. As many girls went out for tennis in the spring.

Athletes Give Chili Feed Hayrack Ride

Promoting the wearing of exclusively Hays High letters and awards occupied much of the H-Club's time. The members of the organization, athletic lettermen, discouraged slacking on the campus.

H-Club carried on an annual tradition and polished off the trophies in both trophy cases.

To raise money for their two annual parties, the chili feed and the hayrack ride, the members carefully tended the soft drink machines on first floor.

How We Have Grown

CULTURALLY

Looking back . . . we see the community using a beautiful, spacious auditorium . . . enjoying outside attractions that can be produced on the large stage with modern lighting and new scenery . . . meeting to hear speakers who bring a message.

In review . . . you recall the production of H.M.S. Pinafore . . . the educational demonstrations of General Electric and Bell Telephone . . . the entertainment of the Kansas University Lyceum artists . . . the outstanding productions of Sun Up and January 16th and Nothing But the Truth.

About face . . . culturally, Hays High will continue to provide top entertainment for students and friends.

The Marching Band Salutes Sousa

Hays High's sixty-piece marching band paid tribute to John Philip Sousa on November 11. During the halftime of the traditional Armistice Day football game, Hays High and Cadets, the maroon and gold displayed in formations during events in the life of Sousa, the "March King."

John Philip Sousa, considered to be the greatest of American band leaders, spent most of his early life in the nation's capital. He wrote the only march ever to be officially recognized by the United States government, the march entitled "Semper Fidelis."

One of the time-honored roles of our early history is the Liberty Bell which rests in Independence Hall. Below this mark in history Sousa wrote the "Liberty Bell March."

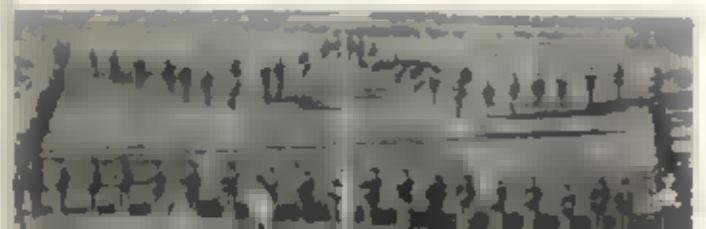

The band forms the White House as a symbol of the march in the "Washington Post."

During Sousa's life he presented many classic American performances but the most popular of these was granted a position in American bands by the future a military band to represent the American type. Sousa wrote.

While returning from Mexico, Sousa wrote his most popular march of all time—The Stars and Stripes Forever.

The band now has a new "March King."

Many Students Participate In Instrumental Music Events

Under the direction of James Graham, the marching band presented numerous half-time programs at football games and participated in parades throughout the marching season. Out in front of the band was Sue Suran, for the year as drum major.

Young on exchange concerts to neighboring schools, playing in contests, and performing various at home were the activities enjoyed by the concert band.

The melodious strains of Christmas music were blended into a phonious harmony as the brass choir opened the program.

When they were come into the house they saw the young Child lying in the manger, and fell down, and worshipped him: and when they saw his glory, they offered him their treasures, they presented unto him gifts; gold, and frankincense, and myrrh. Matthew 2:11

Students Present

"And it came to pass in those days, that a decree went forth from Caesar Augustus . . . for the thirtieth year this phrase opened the program of "The First Christmas."

The brass choir set the mood with music which was followed by four basic scenes. In front of stained glass windows the reader read the scripture. The scene on the hilltop where the angels appeared to the shepherds portrayed the life in the holy land. The Nativity was highlighted by solos of the three kings and songs by members of the marching choir. The angel tableau closed the pageant of the Christmas Story.

The Pageant was presented Tuesday evening and Wednesday afternoon, December 20 and 21, and was under the direction of Miriam Perry assisted by Dallas Quick and James Graham.

Sweetheart Ball Favorites

In all their regal splendor, Jolynne Frederiksen and George H. Ka ruled over the Sweetheart Ball after being crowned by King principal, Clyde Rothgeb.

Attendants to the King and Queen were Karen Seer and Fred Zimmerman, Louise Walburn and Lawrence Younger, Ronnie Cook and Harvey Leiker.

Couples under the colorful canopy of crepe paper streamers glided around the gym floor to the music furnished by the Hoo-Hoo Dance Band.

The floor show added to the romantic atmosphere when Marcella McCartney sang the theme song of the Sweetheart Ball, "If I Loved You." The girls triple trio sang "Stardust" while Terry Hopkins rendered the popular song, "Band of Gold." Kay Homburg and Fred Zimmerman completed the floor show by pantomiming the song, "Make Yourself Comfortable."

The attendants to the King and Queen were Robbie Cook and Harvey Leiker, Louise Walburn and Lawrence Younger, Karen Seer and Fred Zimmerman.

Ganickson Reigns

The kickoff for Homecoming which created great excitement for the students and alumni was the pep assembly. Before the game the students gathered in front of the school for a snake led by the band. The crowd, laughing and cheering, wound its way down Main Street to the grounds of the city auditorium where a huge bonfire climaxed the pep rally.

Afterwards, everyone streamed over to the Lewis Gymnasium where they witnessed Great Bend defeat Hays High, 20-6. The game was highlighted at half time by the revealing of the queen, Sonja Danielson, who was crowned by Francis Zimmerman at the base of a crown which was formed by the band. The queen's attendants were Marilyn McCartney and June Rohr.

After the game a great many alumni and students attended the homecoming dance in the gym.

Francis Zimmerman crowns Sonja Danielson, queen, as attendants, June Rohr, escorts Sonja and Marilyn happily away.

A few of the many alumni attendants for the homecoming dance gathered together to pose for a shot. Those present are: Hazel, former classmate, Dorothy Kuhn, former classmate, Shirley Bader, former classmate, Shirley Cox, former classmate, Shirley Gandy, former classmate, Shirley Johnson, former classmate, and Shirley Lindquist, former classmate.

These students after the energetic pep rally, prove that they still have pep in their step as they gather around the homecoming queen for a spirited pep rally before the game.

Subscribers Choose Louise and Jug

Following Indian Call Week, January 23-27, which was the school campaign for the sale of yearbooks, subscribers chose choice for Indian Call Prince and Princess.

At the end of the year, Jim Linenberger, editor of the Indian Call, revealed the results of the January election by crowning Louise Walburn and Lawrence "Jug" Younger, who are both seniors, Prince and Princess of the May Indian Call dance.

Louise is a business major, particularly active in the Future Business Leaders Association. Lawrence's major interests are industrial and athletics.

Teaching Profession Studied By F.T.A.

Encouraging interested students to become teachers and presenting intriguing programs became the accomplishments of the local chapter of the Future Teachers of America.

The club presented an all-school film on teaching at the start of the year, to encourage more students to become members. Throughout the year, novel programs including movies, film strips, panel discussions, and speeches dealing with various problems of the teaching profession were presented. Harold Elder sponsored this active club.

Sculpture Painting Done By Art Club

The activity bell each Tuesday and Thursday served as the signal for high students from all parts of the country to converge upon the Art Club, meeting outside of class hours to encourage budding artists to develop their skills in crafts. Soap carving, copper enamel and finger painting and a variety of assemblies all proved to be interesting projects for this organization. Many pieces were entered in a national art contest. Roy Duell sponsored the club.

Shop Departments Exhibit In Spring

An event in the spring and always eagerly awaited by students, faculty, and community people is the Industrial Arts Exhibit. The craftsmanship of the woodworking, metal shop and arts and crafts departments is exhibited, this display is very well attended.

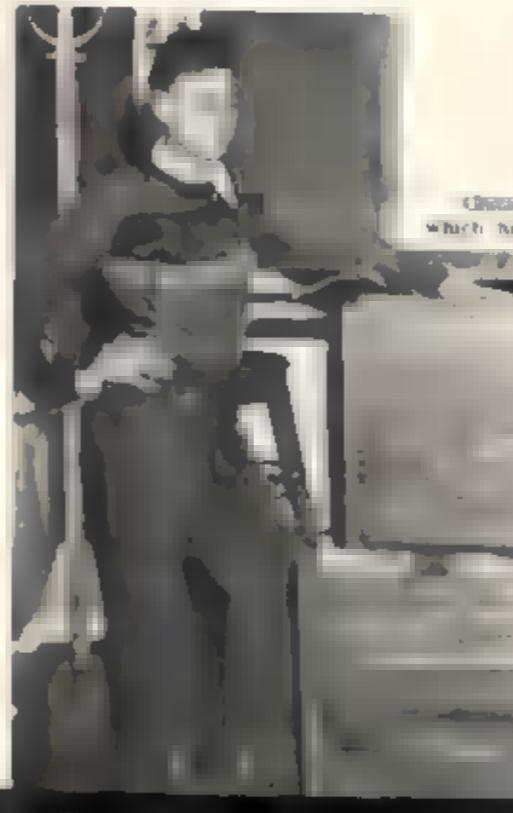

In addition, the contest pictures of the Art Club are displayed at the show, which is held in the gymnasium. Jack Roberts directed this year's exhibit, assisted by Edward Mackenzie, Roy Duell, Darrell Mayon, and Max Alta Liebman.

Squad Eliminates Careless Running

Slowing down the rush hour traffic at noon and regulating the flow of people entering and leaving the building are major undertakings of the traffic squad. Twelve senior high students participate in this school service organization, sponsored by Gleyn Lowe. In addition, the squad's work of discouraging people from pushing in the halls, smoking in the building, and littering on the campus was deterred by this active group.

George Madox makes sure the lunch line is moving when traffic backs up over the dining room assignment.

Gleyn Lowe, advisor, explains changes to the traffic squad at a recent meeting.

Mrs. Charlotte Beery explains some rule changes to the courtesy committee at an activity period meeting.

Courtesy Committee Runs School Errands

Run throughout the building at intervals in the halls the students always ready to deliver a note or run an errand. People with a free period and a courteous attitude may join the Courtesy Committee. Members of this group must meet visitors to the building, give information and directions, and run errands for the main office and the faculty members. The secretaries in the senior high office, Miss Alta Nulton and Mrs. Charlotte Beery, sponsor this service organization.

Steve Hundley and Neil Nulton, Courtesy Committee members, check in with Alta Nulton after a trip downtown on errands.

Kays Present Film Spenser Talent Show

Presenting several checks of radio money for the Olympic Games, major project of the Kays, the girls were always interesting with their discussions on dating problems, popular with the 26 members.

Participating in many community service projects, the Kays sponsored a dance and attended the Kayette conference at Oakley. Funds raised the money for this dance sponsored by Gerald Schmitz and Denny Lee as regional members of Kay-Kayette clubs.

KAY OFFICERS: Terry Hopkins, president; Jim Hart, vice-president; Della May, secretary; and Perry Henry, treasurer.

Jim Coulson outlined plans for a membership drive to his Jr. Kay committee.

Couples crowded the floor at the junior dance.

Junior Kayettes Members

Starting with enthusiasm, the Junior Kayettes worked on a diversified list of projects. Sending flowers to all teachers at the start of school, mounting the Christmas tree, sponsoring heart week, and providing food for needy families at Thanksgiving time were a few of the school and community services that this multi-membered organization carried out during the school year.

Delegates to the conference at Oakley received for the club a banner signifying the organization's accumulation of 1000 points last year.

JUNIOR KAYETTE OFFICERS: Gretchen Lee, president; Judy Klemme, vice-president; Barbara Brooks, secretary, and Pat Zeller, treasurer.

Varied Social Life

By Dance Committee

Classroom dances were a source of great interest for Hays High students. And, however, while dancing to the strains of the band or marching refreshments from the gymnasium, paused to consider the great variety of all the decorations, music and food.

The dance committee, under the guidance of Mr. Gerald Schmidt and his faculty assistants, was the organization devoted to preparing, running and cleaning-up.

After each Friday night home football and basketball game, students would go to the high school gym to have a dance. These dances, along with the carnival, were presented by the PTA, one of the school's biggest boosters. Made up of faculty members and parents, the group maintained pleasant relationships between townspeople and instructors.

The local unit of the Parent Teacher Association heard several speakers who related new developments in the field of education.

PTA members are Ed Kellers, president; Mrs. Wilfred Truan, vice-president; Glynn Lowe, secretary, and Edna Ladd, treasurer.

Friendliest Chosen In Guidon Poll

Each year, the Guidon holds an election for the friendliest students in Hays. For the second and Perry Remia were chosen in the senior high division and Barbara Brooks was elected in the junior high class.

These students, well known for their polite manners and cheery smiles, mix easily with any group of students. They are especially helpful and kind to the new students, pointing out school customs and helping the newcomers to meet other students.

"It's Easy!"
To wash? Certainly.
EASY Automatic Washer
COMPANY
Lyons, Frederickson

...and of velvety, long-stemmed American Roses from the HAYS FLORIST is a traditional Valentine gift, as Dan Davis' choice for his special someone, Judy Broadbroke.

"Night Life!"
Here's the man of the hour, Bill Ward, with his date of the hour, Rosalie Kraus. There's something elegant about a white dinner jacket, and a touch of enchantment in a long, swirling formal. Why not choose yours from the wide selection at FINCH'S?

...and now you can choose from the varied selection of the HAYS
COMBATH line.

"Pay with a check!"
It looks like Barbara Mermis is putting her checking account to good use. Barbara does her banking with the FIRST NATIONAL BANK in Hays.

10 M.C.
The Brand, 500" sportcoat from KREVENTHES will give Terry Hopkins that "Good Man on the Campus" look.

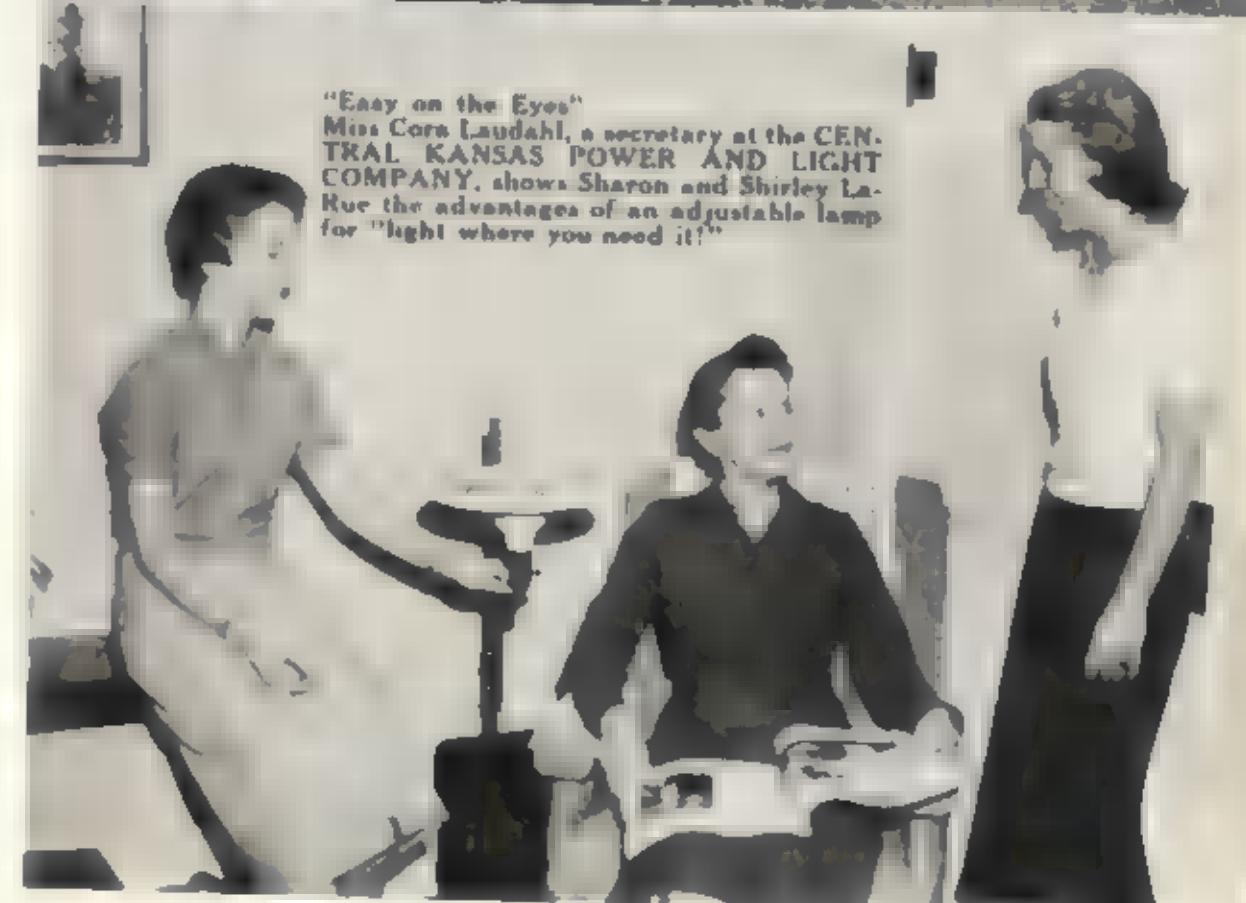

"Sportswear, 1956"
Bermudas and a Jantzen shirt from ANN'S DRESS SHOP will make Sue Suran both comfortable and stylish during her leisure hours.

"Rustle of Spring"
Virginia Wood and Brenda Reed know the CROSS SHOP is the place to buy their crisp spring cottons!

"It saves to sew!"
But the selection of a pattern comes first.
Karen Oldham and Diane Amos know WIESNER'S is the place to choose, because there is such a wide selection. Helping them is Miss Rita Gottschalk, one of the clerks at WIESNER'S.

Our complete office was furnished by the

"Seniors Choice"
Miss Stevie Hale, graduate of '55, exhibits a sample of the fine photographs that have made LARRY'S STUDIO the choice of '55 graduates, Deanna Whitney and Joy Ludwick.

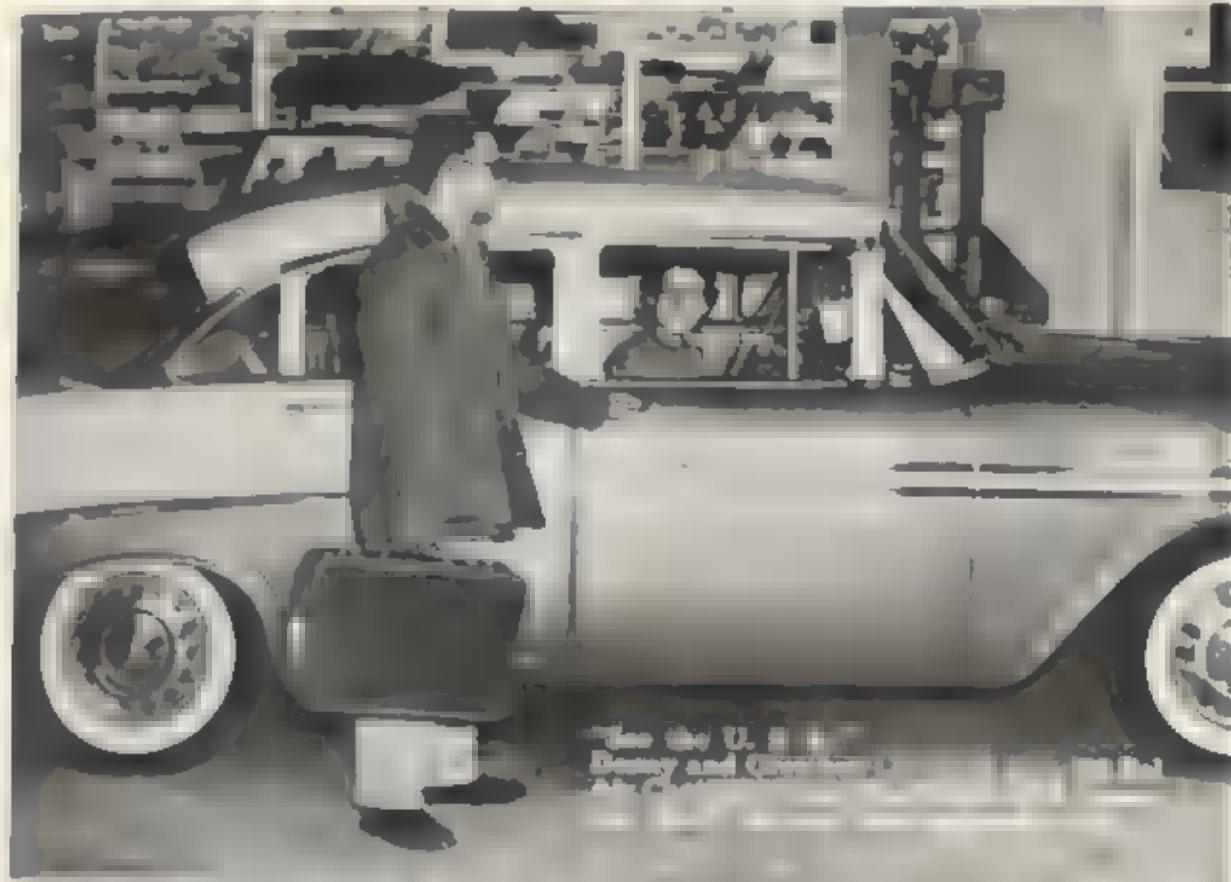

"This is Peter!"
"Wouldn't you like a colorful parakeet?
Then plan to get one from DUCK-
WALL'S," suggests Barbara Brooks.

"Shopping?"
"HAYS CITY DRUG carries all my photography needs," smiles Marilyn McGuire.
"That certainly helps me to make a hobby more interesting!"

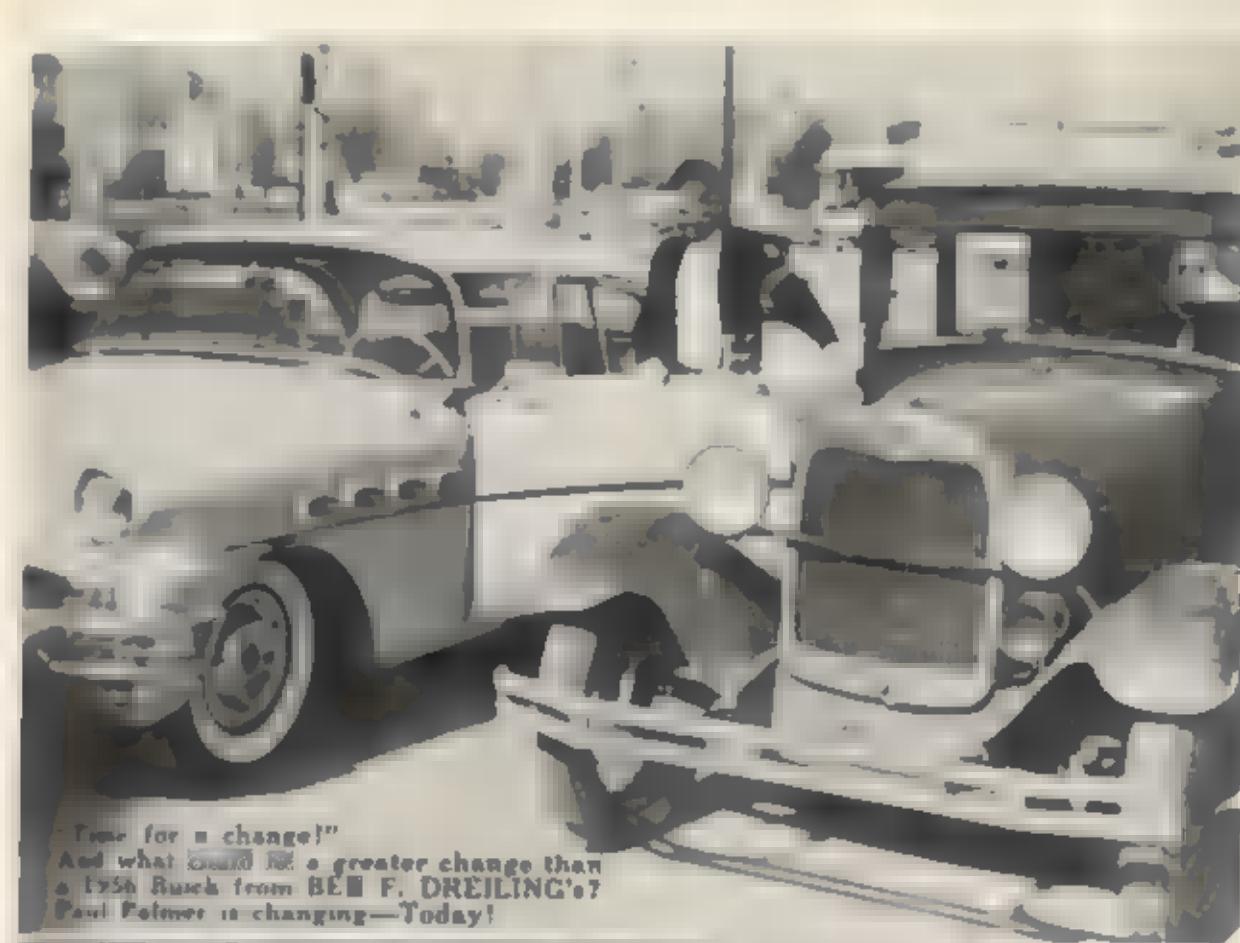

"A Ford in your future?"
Everybody likes the Beach's new Ford Thunderbird from the GAGELMAN MOTOR COMPANY which Mary Beach is proudly displaying to the neighborhood kids and pets!

Paul Palmer is changing—Today!

"Prompt Delivery!"
David Moyer pauses a moment while making a delivery of garden fresh, high quality foods from the GRASS BROS. GROCERS.

"Charming—" Both the ensemble and the model, Karen Seery. For a complete outfit, shop at the CLASSIC, you'll find everything you need to complete your wardrobe.

"Dot of Distinction." Calvin Markwell seems to have made another sale to a satisfied customer of MARKWELL'S. Jean Harris and Carol Hurt found a Shaffer pen to be just what they were looking for.

"Believe it or not, Joyce Dickey is getting the finishing touch to her Valentine's Day bouquet made more beautiful with carnations and deep-pink carnations from ALICE BOOTHBY'S FLOWER SHOP."

"How about some of this?" Karen LaLure and Gwen Speck agree that MANN'S I. G. A. STORE features both high quality and low priced goods. That's Charlie Mann offering his shopping sug-

"A practical and practical too!" The newest in hats is the new glassware from VERN GALLERS. The dream of the woman who longs for Barbara Streisand's hat.
